Comment	With effect from 1 January 2021, the dual currency system consisting of the convertible peso (CUC) and the Cuban peso (CUP) has been abolished and the Cuban peso designated as the country's sole legal tender. The Cuban peso is pegged to the US dollar at a rate of USD 1 = CUP 24. Existing sums in convertible pesos could be exchanged at banks and bureaux de change at a rate of CUC 1 = CUP 24 until 31 December 2021. Until the end of 2020, the Cuban government applied a CUC to CUP exchange rate of 1:1 in its national accounts. In reality, Cuban pesos could only be exchanged for convertible pesos at a considerable discount. From 18 March 2005 to the end of 2020, the government foreign exchange bureaus (CADECA - Casas de Cambio) paid CUP 24 per CUC or USD. Individuals wanting to purchase CUC had to pay CUP 25 per CUC.

Comment	Serbia maintains a de facto exchange rate anchor to the euro. With effect from 4 February 2003, the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia was reconstituted as "Serbia and Montenegro". At the same time, the dinar, which remained legal tender only in Serbia, was renamed from "Yugoslav new dinar" to "Serbian dinar" (ISO code: CSD); in Montenegro, the euro has been the sole legal tender since 1 April 2002. Since 3 June 2006, Serbia and Montenegro have been independent states; as of 25 October 2006, the ISO code for the Serbian dinar was changed from CSD to RSD.

Comment	9 August 1965: Upon its separation from the Federation of Malaysia, Singapore gained independence. However, the monetary union formed with Malaysia and Brunei Darussalam remained in place for the next two years.

Under an agreement between Singapore and Brunei Darussalam, the Brunei dollar (convertible at par) is also accepted as customary tender.

Comment

History:

A law was passed in the former Yemen Arab Republic (North Yemen) on 3 February 1964 to establish a currency board that was authorised to issue banknotes. The exchange period for North Yemen's sole legal tender until that time, the Maria Theresa thaler, expired on 30 April 1965. On 8 March 1965, the Yemeni rial then became the sole legal tender.

As of 27 August 1968, the currency of the Democratic Yemen (South Yemen) was the Yemeni dinar (known as the South Yemeni dinar until the middle of 1972).

On 4 May 1990, the Yemeni dinar (YDD) became legal tender in North Yemen, and likewise the Yemeni rial (YER) in South Yemen, at a ratio of YDD 1 = YER 26.

North and South Yemen united to form the current Republic of Yemen on 22 May 1990, with both currencies remaining legal tender until 1996. The Yemeni rial has been the sole legal tender since the deadline for exchanging currency passed on 15 August 1996.
